VOLUME 24

Time may quickly pass away,
But memories are always here to stay.

CORNERS IN TIME

Time:

It slips by with each passing moment, its only traces that remain are memories. Memories that we box away in our minds and store in our special corners. In time, we wander through life searching for the center of our boxes. And in our final days we linger in those corners . . .

Dedication

We the Senior Class of 1981 would like to dedicate this annual to our Principal and Friend,
Mr. Dan Neiles,
whose strength and guidance has helped shape our lives for a better tomorrow.

Deadlines! Copy! Pressures! These are just some of the elements, when mixed together, produce, "Pirates Tales," TR's school newspaper. The monthly publication takes many long and tedious hours to put together, but the final outcome is worth the time and effort on the part of the staff. The paper is enjoyed by the students, faculty, and community and captures the memories of TR High in its pages.

Editors:
Peg Harris
Deb Schuler

Let's get those articles in.

How's the copy coming?

Nice cover design

The paper must be ready to go on time!

PROM "81"

"MADE IT THROUGH THE RAIN"

SENIOR BREAKFAST

I remember when...

I could never miss this place.

I've always said it was a waste of time-such an institution...

You practically have to sign your life away to get out of study hall.

Never again will I have to put up with people who think they're authorities on everything!

I know where I'm going, what I'll do, I... um... think I do.

I'll make it, it'd have to be easier than this.

Good times?

Yah, I suppose there were a few...

Our sophomore year... we were sure rowdy!

We thought it was all over after "Sheldon Park"!

Oh, and the Senior Lounge.

We felt so privileged to be worthy of it. But we deserved it!

It wasn't very elaborate, but we made it home.

Reminiscing is okay, but let's be real.

Essentially it's been a hassle... a 24-hour a day hassle.

Just how understanding were those hard-nosed teachers when we couldn't do everything at once?

I'll be so glad to get out in the real world! Then I'll really be living.

It has to be easier than this!

It couldn't really be as rough as our folks say... or...

I'm cleaning out my locker for the very last time!

I'm finally free.

What a bunch of junk! an unused lunch ticket, a Government test that I barely passed!, an absence-slip dated "due 3-8-81," dirty P.E. shorts, quite the assortment!

I can still remember walking past the "Senior Lockers" when I was in 8th grade, thinking, "I'll never be a Senior." Just yesterday, crossing this threshold for the last time, passing through these doors, almost running to the car to escape the memories.

"Hey!" I stop... "See ya later, right?!" says a faceless Junior-high kid. I can't see him, the school blurs out in a cloud of tears.

It's been real... they said it'd go fast...

Friends:

Friends are special people,
For they do things in style.
They are always ready to cheer you up
With laughter and a smile.
They'll help whenever possible,
To show they really care.
It's kind of nice to know,
They remember you in their prayers.
Their loyalty is never-ending;
Their understanding constantly glowing.
The good deeds are heartwarming;
The love forever flowing.
They can relate to your philosophy.
And seem to understand,
When there are too many problems,
And give a helping hand.
You can call it quits
When you've lost your friend.
Because you'll live in misery,
Waiting for time to end.
