SENIOR PROPHECY

It is the year 2010, and Ronna is still up to her same old tricks, and believe it or not, so is her Pumkie. It was the worst accident that had happened in Iowa for the last ten years. And as you might guess, Ronna was the cause. It shocked the old class of 1988 greatly, for they thought the Pumkie died years ago. Ronna was taken by Life-flight to the Humboldt Hospital, where she was put on the waiting list. As the day wore on, the old classmates filed in one by one. It was agreed that they would all meet together and visit Ronna.

The first person to show up was Jody McCullough, now Jody Balk. She was doing quite well for herself, working in the Livermore Hawkeye Bank, supporting her husband and twelve children.

Joe Jacobson showed up next; he had just started a new campaign against under-sized yield signs and was still saving up money from all his pop bottle deposits to put a new door panel on his black widow.

Sunni Davis entered in. She was now the recreation director for Bears. Her major area is shooting pool.

Joel Rutz is now a celebrity; he has written a book entitled, Winner. How You Can Become One. This book is now a best seller to all of the present seniors in Twin Rivers.

Gina Bennett is now running around Ottosen searching for Big Foot.

Bob Schultz has just invented a new kind of No-Doze so he can work and go to school with one hour of sleep.

Michelle Teesfeld has also written a new book, 102 Ways To Find a Boyfriend and Make it Work. All the girls in the class bought one.

Steve Thul and his wife Mona visit while trying to look after their numerous children; he lost count somewhere along the way. He also is the proud owner of "Pigs R Us," a new franchise in Bode, Iowa.

Jenny Landolt now owns a floral museum in Ottosen; it is the largest known in the world. Her co-owner is Todd Bakken, of course.

John Rutz is the head coach for the Twin Rivers track team; over three-fourths of the kids out are his own.

Jean Berte now runs Jensen Construction and in the meantime is pulling pigs for the Banwart Farm Inc.

John Morey has now opened his own trucking business driving "Harvey's Bluegrass Festival" from state to state. It was rumored he was booked up for the next four years, or so he says.

Shanna Walker is married to Richard and now owns Diamond Lil's Sweetwater Restaurant.

Joan Berte has opened up a popcorn factory called "Pop and Go With Joan," with various homemade recipes.

Eric Jensen had just given up his Olympic hopes after he had continually tripped over his lip and is now married to Rachel.

Margaret Struthers is a meat inspector for Hardee's, now driving a Lamborghini that her dad bought for her.

And last but not least, always late, Scott Sickels finally showed up. He was toting along his harem from the North Star Conference. He now lives in Arizona and specializes in exterior decorating.

Anxiously awaiting news of Ronna, we were all shocked to see Ronna walking down the hall toward us. She told us of her happy news; her doctor had just proposed and they were planning on going to Australia for their honeymoon. For a wedding gift, we gave her a new car and a chauffeur so we wouldn't have to worry about her driving again.
